

Making Classrooms Inclusive

We focus on supporting individual children for whom the school aims to create a more inclusive environment. Our recommendations not only address the specific child's needs but also enhance inclusivity for all current and future students.

Inclusive preschool environments promote empathy, collaboration, and belonging for all children.

Families feel confident their children are in an environment that nurtures growth and meets their needs.

Teachers feel confident and equipped to help neurodivergent students thrive.

Students feel welcome, included, regulated, and ready to learn!

"There are countless ways to modify a classroom environment to meet the needs of diverse children. With the expertise of a pediatric occupational therapist, teachers gain valuable insight into making small but impactful changes to both the physical space and the relational milieu."
