

Making Classrooms Inclusive

A pediatric occupational therapist observes the classroom, collaborates with the teaching team, and provides practical recommendations to support inclusion for both individual children and the broader classroom community. This service can also target the needs of 1–2 individual students to help them feel more connected and included in the classroom.

Making Classrooms Connected

A social-emotional learning specialist partners with the teaching team through classroom observation, reflection, and practical recommendations to strengthen connection, communication, and emotional safety within the classroom community. This service can also target the needs of 1–2 individual students to help them feel more connected, supported, and included in the classroom.

Cost: $850

Member Pricing: $700